RVM Construction Announces the Completion of a State of the Art Facility for MeriCal, Inc.

RVM Construction announced today that it has finished principle construction on a consolidated and expanded manufacturing facility for MeriCal, Inc. Opened in 1965, MeriCal, Inc. has developed from a small custom operation into one of the nutritional industry's leading formulation and custom packaging specialists. MeriCal, Inc. is the collaboration of prime tablet/capsule manufacturing expertise and custom packaging capabilities allowing for complete, high-quality turnkey production.

RVM worked with Architectural firm A2 Collaborative to move two entire manufacturing operations to a new facility that was improved significantly to handle more machinery, space, and increase productivity. Notes Jeff Stallings, CEO of MeriCal: "The most important aspects of this project were moving and expanding while not losing production time and keeping our customers supplied every step of the way. RVM did a great job of working with all of our department heads to manage the improvements and created a more efficient workspace. Their project management skills brought so much to the table."

Working with RVM on this project was A2 Collaborative principle, Garrett Hoskins: "Working with RVM was such a pleasure. They saw the vision that we had for MeriCal, Inc. didn't change it, and brought in some new ideas to enhance the overall finished product. MeriCal, Inc. now has a facility they can expand in that is just right for them."
