Our Quest for Partner Architects

RVM Construction, a general contracting firm in Orange County Ca, specializing in the construction of fine custom homes and commercial properties is searching for Architects that share our vision.

About Us

Specifically, we want to meet Architects with deep experience in custom home design and or commercial construction with a history of success partnering with contractors to realize the goals of their clients.

We know that many architects and clients view construction as a commodity and when purchasing construction services see price as the only difference between companies, but actually nothing could be further from the truth. In addition, much of the construction workforce of today is unskilled and trained without the proper apprenticeships. We are looking for Architects that understand this current construction dilemma, and want to work with skilled labor, its requisite costs, and the superior results it brings.

Those Architects wanting more information can call Ron Vandermooren at 714-632-9420
